Game Room

Inspired by notable socialite Zelda Fitzgerald, the game room serves as a gathering place for cocktails, games, and even overnight guests. MA Allen swathed the space in a Morris & Co. botanical motif on the walls and ceiling and worked with a local millworker to create the bench-slash-daybed and bookcase for the alcove. "We tucked the paper around the top to make it look fully built into the wall," she explains. "It's really just a trick of the eye." The overall vibe is collected and curated, with an eclectic mix of framed art, objects, books, and just the right dose of antiques. Combined with an assortment of eye-catching textiles—like the pink and red diagonal striped chair, cheeky animal-print stools, and bespoke daybed—it all makes for a room you don't want to leave.

A round pedestal table opens up to a game table for four. Daybed cushion: custom, in Morris & Co. fabric. Sconce: Visual Comfort & Co. Stools: Lee Industries. Paint: Romesco, Farrow & Ball. Books: Sarreid Ltd. Art: Baumbirdy, Jessica C.
